

Hitoshi Murata, Mr.

Manager, NEC Corporation Future City Development Division

From Yamaguchi Prefecture, Japan

Graduated from Hosei University

Since joining NEC Corporation, he was engaged in proposing and supporting to build supercomputer systems for research institutes and to build launch information systems for NASDA (now JAXA). He was a project member to build the Earth Simulator (JAMSTEC, 1st prize of TOP500, 2002-2003) and He joined a project to build the remote-control system for ISAS (now JAXA) that launched HAYABUSA satellite (2003).

Now, he belongs to Future City Development Division, NEC. Their mission is to develop new business about future city management using IoT, big data, and new designed information platform computing. It will contribute to realize of “Super Smart Society” advocate.